Inside Burleigh's new $77 million tower Natura

Janelle Estreich
07 MAR 2020

Gold Coast Bulletin

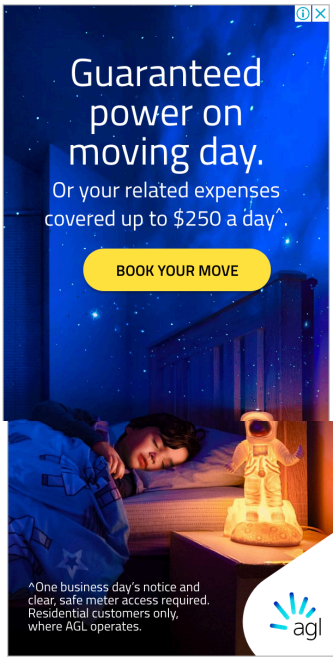

Plans for the $77 million Natura development at 112 The Esplanade show 17 levels including 33 apartments.

A new development in Burleigh Heads hopes to capitalise on high demand for more spacious residential apartments along the Gold Coast beachfront.

Plans for the $77 million Natura development at 112 The Esplanade show 17 levels including 33 apartments — all with three bedrooms and no more than two apartments on each floor.

The view from one of the apartments in Natura.

What to watch next

The luxury bathroom in one of the apartments.

Priced from $1.599 million, each apartment offers 211sq m of living space including a spacious master bedroom with walk-in wardrobe, his-and-hers vanities and a freestanding bath in the ensuite, kitchen with butler's pantry, and an oceanview balcony that's big enough for entertaining.

The project is led by Brisbane developer Spyre Group, who expects Natura to appeal to owner-occupiers and downsizers who are driving the demand for larger luxury apartments along the popular coastal strip.

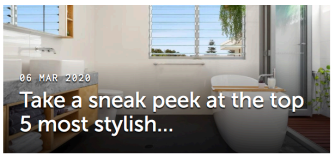

MORE NEWS: Gold Coast property: land valuations reveal winners and losers

Gold Coast Castle fit for a king set to go under the hammer

The front of the building.

Render of the kitchen.

"Spyre Group has done their homework," said Nicholas Clydsdale, Director of CBRE Residential Projects, who is marketing the development.

"Three-bedroom apartments along The Esplanade are highly sought after but rare as hen's teeth in a beach strip that is also in very high residential demand."

The project will also include a 'wellness space' featuring a range of movement and recovery products designed to balance the body and mind.